

2025 PROJECT, MORTLAKE ST. CONCORD

Recently, we completed a restoration project for a family whose home had been severely damaged during a major storm event. Flooding caused stormwater and sewage to enter the property, affecting key areas including the living spaces, bathroom, and circulation zones.

The experience was both urgent and rewarding. From the initial consultation, we worked closely with the homeowners to assess the damage, plan the restoration, and bring the home back—stronger, safer, and more beautiful than before.

The site presented several challenges. Damage to structural and sanitary components meant careful demolition, sanitation, and drying processes were required before rebuilding could begin. Our team approached every stage with care, ensuring the home was safe, stable, and ready for high-quality reconstruction.

Throughout the project, our skilled team of builders worked to uphold the craftsmanship and attention to detail that 4x4 Built is known for. We preserved the original charm of the home while incorporating durable, modern finishes designed to withstand future weather events.

Collaboration with the client was key to the project's success. Their involvement throughout—from layout decisions to material selections—helped shape a final result that felt both familiar and renewed

The end result is a warm, functional home that blends old and new. The rebuilt bathroom now features a fresh layout with high-quality finishes and custom cabinetry. The living and kitchen areas have been revitalised with engineered timber flooring, enhanced lighting, and an improved connection between indoor and outdoor living spaces.
